

FOR IMMEDIATELY RELEASE

www.panamericanart.com
miami@panamericanart.com
274 NE 67th Street, Miami, FL 33138
+1 (305) 751 2550

El sueño que olvidé antes del alba
Jill Kearney, Elsa Mora and Sandra Ramos
December 10, 2022 - January 21, 2023

Pan American Art Projects is pleased to announce *El sueño que olvidé antes del alba*¹ (The Dream I Forgot Before Dawn), a collective exhibition featuring artists Jill Kearney, Elsa Mora, and Sandra Ramos, and curated by Claudia Taboada.

El sueño que olvidé antes del alba is conceived as a visual poem, and aims to establish a correlation with the Traditional Japanese composition of a haiku, by associating its three lines (phrases) with the three artists; their brief but intense statements, with the conceptual strength of the works, apparently “simple” in their visual presentation, requiring to close your eyes to capture their true essence. This is also a self-referential show, as personal life experiences have been translated into installations, videos, objects, and drawings. The doubt of having just dreamed will always be an open door towards magical realism, the questioning of existence and what surrounds us. The exhibition is a space for meditation but also confrontation.

Jill Kearney is a writer, visual artist, arts administrator, and curator. As a child, she spent many formative summers in Provincetown, Mass, where local arts institutions anchored a diverse community of artists, writers, and fishermen. Her parents founded The Contemporary Art Workshop, an art center housed in a rambling former dairy factory in Chicago, Illinois. She graduated from Harvard with a degree in English and Creative Writing, worked in Hollywood as a creative executive at Francis Coppola’s Zoetrope Studios, served as west coast editor of American Film and Premiere Magazine, and later ran the Tribeca Film Center-based offices of Los Angeles film producer Art Linson. From 2000 to 2015 she produced theater, dance, and literary events in a cavernous unheated barn in Bucks County PA, where she developed a deep appreciation for the practice of art as a collaborative enterprise. In 2016 she founded Frenchtown, New Jersey-based ArtYard, an alternative contemporary art center, residency, and theater, with her creative partner Elsa Mora.

Elsa Mora is an artist and curator. A recipient of the UNESCO-Aschberg Bursaries for Artists, she was born and raised in Cuba and moved to Los Angeles in 2001, where she lived until 2014. Mora currently resides in upstate New York with her husband, William Horberg, and their two children. Elsa’s art has been exhibited worldwide in art galleries and museums. She taught at the Vocational School of Arts in Camagüey, Cuba, and has been a visiting artist at the Art Institute of Chicago, San Francisco State University, the Art Institute of Boston, the MoMA Design Store, and the National Gallery of Art, among others. Her work is in the permanent collection of the National Museum of Women in the Arts in Washington, D.C.; the Long Beach Museum of Art, California; and the Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art at the University of Oregon. Mora has collaborated as an illustrator with such organizations as the Museum of Modern Art, Chronicle Books, The New York Review of Books, Penguin Random House, The Oprah Magazine, Cosmopolitan, and teNeues, among others. Mora is one of the founding members of ArtYard, a contemporary art center based in Frenchtown, New Jersey, where she is artistic director and curator.

¹ Based on the haiku written by Jorge Luis Borges. (¿Es o no es / el sueño que olvidé / antes del alba?)

Pan American Art Projects

Sandra Ramos is a visual artist based in Miami. She was educated at the Elemental School of Visual Arts 20 de Octubre, at the San Alejandro Academy and at the Higher Art Institute (ISA); all in Havana, Cuba. Her work illustrates her views of the political and social contemporary context in her country and worldwide. Ramos takes elements and recognizable characters from political cartoons to comment humorously about a very dared reality. Although it is an autobiographical work in many ways, it relates to a generational position, provoking dialogue among private and public, personal and collective memories. Ramos work can be found as part of the collection of prestigious museums and institutions such as The Museum of Modern Art (MOMA), New York, NY; The Museum of Fine Arts (MFA), Boston, Mass.; National Museum of Fine Arts, Havana, Cuba; National Royal Museum of Art, Ontario, Canada; Arizona State University Museum, Arizona; Grafik Museum Stiftung Schreiner, Bad Steben, Germany; Lehigh University Museum, Penn University, Philadelphia; Civitella Ranieri Foundation, Italy; Fort Lauderdale Museum of Art, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; and Ludwig Forum fur Kunst, Aachen, Germany.

PRESS IMAGES

Jill Kearney. Disappearing Poems, 2022. Installation, mixed media, Dimensions variable.

Pan American Art Projects

Elsa Mora. One Hundred and One Notions (a series of 101 small sculptures), 2018. Paper and glue, a variety of sizes, from 2" to about 8" on the largest side.

Pan American Art Projects

Sandra Ramos. The Hand of History, 2021-2022. Interactive Video Installation. Multimedia, furniture, white chalk. Soundtrack by Pavel Urkiza, dimensions variable.